FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

Businary, Dec. 25, 1860.

The week ending yesterday, as usual at this season, winnessed less activity than usual in business circles, though at the South the movement in cotton continues to be unprecedented, and here at New York the import unties are likewise unparalleled for the season.

Up to the close of the last cotten week the amo

net 1,403,000 to the same date of 1858, and 832,000 to e same date of aso; or the tac expert has been 902,000 to same date year, and 8,000 to same date year before. The number of perhaps who refuse to believe that the crop will exceed 100,000 bales is steadily diminishing, and 4,250,000 as almost universally received estimate. It hardly necessary to add that no one can be stored to the second of the seco results; the crop may turn out to be 4,000,000 bales of the results; the crop may turn out to be 4,000,000 or 4, 500,-600. In Rugiana the excess ever previous years has eased a decline of 1/4 a 3/4 of a penny from the highest prices ruling; in the South an unusually large demand from France and the continent of Europe sustains the market. This demand is partly speculative; but it is quite likely that, the consumption of cotton is increasing in rates of the month. From Chicago a similar state of hings is reported, though there have been lately beary purchases of breadstuffs and previsions in hat market. Letters from Liverpool report that four is being imported from France, and that the eporaon leaves a profit to the importer. This hardly tallies the reports current a short while since of the short op in France. However, the best authorities have all rices of wheat and flour in England till about or after few Year; our operators must wait a few weeks before een moderate. Sugars are again slightly higher, and rm at the advance. Teas are dull; holders do not seem er has also advanced. There is hardly anything doing a weel, and the price is unchanged.

There is nothing doing in dry goods, but the importacan are unusually heavy. Some of the large importing courses continue to assert that the orders sent to the Conment for goods have been more moderate than usual; ert, we look for no decline in the imports. It has beseri loudly that he has reduced his orders, and toes tely to increase them, in the hope that his neighbor eally curtail his, that we look for no cure for the int mania for over importation, but a long series of sitable years, which will end by weeding out of the ode all the weak and many of the strong houses. Dry ods importing has been so long a profitable business, d it is so easy to import, especially with banks ever eking to expand, that the wonder is that the thing was

There was no steamer direct to Europe last week; hence men gold never flows contward to any extent. Some ints have been made South, however, and thus the following comparison between the bank statement

We have nothing to remark on the above, except that attention of members. At this rate our banks will have no less than $135,000,000 of discounts in April next; and when the time comes for them to curtail in order to protect their specie-which will flow out freely enough to pay for rmous importations of foreign goods which they are now encouraging-the merchants will realize the soundness of the consure we now pronounce on their pobey. The same warnings were nutered in 1867, and were disregarded, as they are now. The bank reserve of specie received an accession of strength yesterday, in the shape of $1,408,234, arrived per Baltic from California. We presume that most of this will go South in the course of presume that most of while the fall in European bills pre-tine ensuing week. While the fall in European bills pre-vents shipments of specie against them, the fall in North-ern bills at New Orleans causes a flow of gold southward, and it is evident that the banks cannot accumulate much.

Vesterday was the last day for making the usual deposit of one per cent against bids for the three million of Treasury notes which are to be awarded at Washington on Tuesday next. The amount of deposits at this point up to four P. M. yesterday, has not transpired, the Sub-Treasurer, contrary to custom, refusing to furnish the amount to the press. Some of the bidders will probably deposit at Washington. The amount of the bids would have been larger had any other day of next week been selected for the awards. As it was, bidders here were expected to make their bids three days before their competitors at Washington; they were thus placed at so great a disadvantage that it was singular there were any bidders at all under such circumstances. It seems to be generally understood that six per cent will be He rate of the new notes to be awarded; no one seems willing to give par for 5%'s or 5%'s, and the Secretary is net allowed by law to issue notes bearing over 6 per cent. The money is required by the government to pay last year's postal appropriations, for which Congress will pass a bill as soon as it organizes; no disturbance will thus be caused in the money market by the withdrawal of coin from the banks, as it will flow back to them again directly. The amount of duties continues fair; the Sub-Trea-Bury held yesterday $6,132,218, against $6,015,562 at the Money has not varied in price since last week, though money has not varied in price mice hast week, though there is rather more inquiry than there was, probably in censequence of the holidays, and the derangements in financial movements caused by the less of a day in each of the two holiday weeks. We quote call loans 6 a 7; very few loans are made, however, at the latter figure, which is only given when the security is not generally available. Most of the brokers are amply supplied at 6 per cent. The supply of mercantile paper has been ample since last week, and capitalists find no difficulty in obtaining first class double name paper, 4 a 6 months, at 7 per cent. Short acceptances, very prime, go at 6 a 6% after the holidays, the range of paper negotiable at these rates will probably be enlarged. Names less known are surrent, as usual, at 5 a 10 a 15 per cent, according to standing, &c. There have been no important failures since last week. There was a rumer that the Kerceene Oil Company, whose directors failed as short while since, had failed to meet its paper, but this is contradicted by the officers of the company. The concern has, we believe, a good deal of property, and a profitable business. The supply of Southern bills of exchange has been very large, especially on Paris, and an active business was done for the Pereia at rates not varying materially from those current last week, to wit: 109% a ½ for bankers' sterling, and 5.15% a 5.17% for france. Very good Southern bank bills were done at 5.15% for france; ning first class double name paper, 4 a 6 months, at had from Monday to Thursday. Early in the week some of the street and board jobbers, availing themselves of 75%, and several Western stocks is proportion. On Friday there was a raily, and yesterday—partly in conse-

the agitation of the slavery question, stocks cannot ad-vance, as the public will not care to risk money in fluctu-ating securities. The bulls, on the other hand, point to that the improvement in their business, and the resump-tion of dividends, must tend to foster speculation and investment in railway property. The experience of the past has generally been that after the holidays there was an increase of business on the Stock Exchange. People are generally not disinclined to put money into stocks at affoat in the hands of individuals, arising from divi were confined to about 250 hhds. Caba refining good 74c. Whiskey.—Sales of 300 barrels were made at 27c.

The commercial statistics show that this city is the largest hide market on this continest, if not in the world. The total importations for the fiscal year ending January 30, 1858, amounted to the value of $9,884,268, nearly one half of which came from South America, including Buenog Ayres, Venezuela, Brazil, Uruguay, &c.; and the value of skins from British India amounted to $1,884,448. Of the whole amount imported into the United States New York received $5,622,620. The greater part of the supplies received are sold to the tunners in the interior, who return their equivalent in dressed leather and skins, and which are distributed over the United States, with some shipments to England. over the United States, with some shipments to England; the chief sales, however, are made directly to the manucover the United States, with some shipments to England; the chief sales, however, are made directly to the manufactor the holidays, the range of paper negotiable at these rates will probably be enlarged. Names less known are surrent, as usual, at 3 a 10 a 15 per cent, according to standing, &c. There have been no important failures since last week. There was a rumor that the Kerosene Oil Company, whose directors failed a short while since, had failed to meet its paper, but this is contradicted by the effects of the company. The concern has, we believe, a good deal of property, and a profitable business. The supply of Southern bills of exchange has been very large, especially on Paris, and an active business was done for the Persia at rates not varying materially from those current last week, to wit: 109% a ½ for bankers' sterling, and 5.15½ a 5.17½ for france; good Southern bank bills were done at 5.18½ for france; good Southern bank bills were done at 5.18½ for france; good southern bank bills were done at 5.18½ for france; some excellent sterling bills wont at 100% a ½. There was no steamer for Europe from this port yesterday, and foreign exchange has hence been inactive since the Persia salled. Some bills on Paris were sold for the steamer from Portland; nothing was done for the Boston steamer on Wedneeday next. At the present rates of exchange species cannot be profitably shipped to Europe to cover bills.
